MORGAN MAKES MARK ON NEW SCHOOL

Morgan County residents wield powerful influence at the new, area independent school Redeemer Episcopal Academy.

Headmaster, The Rev. D. Geoffrey Taylor, Parent Association President, Dr. David Bradley, and Kristen Davidson, Parent Association Treasurer, all live in Morgan County as does PreK-4 teacher Valerie Green. Dean of Academics, Julie Copelan, is a Morgan County native, and more than 10 percent of the student population reside in the county.

“I am a resident of Morgan County, and moved there because of the public school system. I have always been a supporter and proponent of public schools. Morgan County has a system of which we should all be proud,” said Taylor. “However, I understand as well the desire and need in the education marketplace for a school that combines robust academics in a faith-based environment. I am proud that we are able to offer such a world-class product in an area convenient to Morgan, Green, Putnam and beyond.”

Despite being open only since September, Redeemer Academy is already setting the standard for education in the region with its rigorous academic program featuring daily Spanish instruction.

“Small class sizes with such personalized instruction by truly outstanding teachers—a parent couldn’t ask for a better environment,” said Dr. Bradley, Madison resident and president of the school’s Parent Association.

Conveniently located to Morgan County near the intersection of Harmony Road and Hwy. 44, the school draws from Madison and Buckhead. Many area families were attracted not only by the Episcopal School tradition of high academic standards, but also by the faith-based environment. Founded on faith, Redeemer Academy is open to people of all faiths, and delivers high-quality instruction in a safe, nurturing environment.

“We wanted our daughter involved in a school where the foundation was built on faith in God. We wanted her to see her faith work in all environments outside of church and home,” said Davidson, a Madison resident. “A school that was accepting of all people and their faiths along with an Honor Code that holds not only the students responsible, but also the teachers, faculty, board and parents accountable. This Redeemer Academy is an answer to our prayers.”

Redeemer Episcopal Academy is currently accepting applications for PreK-3 through 2nd grade for the 2007-2008 academic year, and for PreK-3 through 4th grade for the 2008-2009 academic year. For more information about the school or to schedule a tour, please call (706) 484-1238.

An Information Session for Interested Parents is scheduled for 6:00 p.m. on Nov. 27 at The Episcopal Church of the Advent in Madison. It is open to the public.
