REDEEMER HOSTS OPEN HOUSE

Redeemer Episcopal Academy will welcome interested parents and community members on Feb. 10 from 6 to 8 p.m. for a drop in open house.

Guests will have the opportunity to meet with Dr. Trish Klein, headmaster, and her faculty in addition to parents and board members. Tours of the facility will be available as well.

“We want interested parents and other members of our community to come and experience for themselves those attributes that set Redeemer Episcopal Academy apart,” said Ted Baker, incoming president of the Parents Association. “Our school is providing a standard-setting education in a loving environment.”

Going into its third year, the faith-based Redeemer Episcopal Academy remains committed to rigorous academics delivered by nurturing professionals. The school offers daily foreign language, small class sizes, low student/teacher ratios, athletic opportunities, computers in each classroom and an emphasis on the arts.

Thanks to the generous donations of Heinz and Birgit Nathe in addition to participation in the state’s GOAL scholarship program, Redeemer Episcopal Academy will be able to offer more financial assistance and scholarship opportunities than ever before.

“At Redeemer Episcopal Academy, we are committed to providing the highest quality educational opportunities to children regardless of their socio-economic backgrounds,” said Dr. Klein. “We provide the ideal environment for exceptional students who are eager to learn. Our teachers are devoted to stretching each child to reach his or her unique and fullest potential.”

Visitors to Redeemer Episcopal Academy are welcome, and tours can be scheduled by calling the school at 706-484-1238. Those interested in learning more about the school are also encouraged to visit the web site at RedeemerAcademy.org.
